

July 17, 2009

Kohler adds a new bold look and design.

The recent arrival of their ACSI restroom trailer has brought another new meaning to the word bold. ACSI's Kohler custom 24' prestige restroom trailer stands out in any event with all the Kohler furnishings. This trailer includes skylights and private full door stalls. The full length stained solid core wood doors are equipped with vacancy indicator locks and brushed finished handles.

Jon Rubino, a sales executive at Kohler, said, "This is exactly what we planned. Our expectations were blown away by the luxurious quality of this trailer and all the Kohler products inside."

Among many other features are the noticeable and stylish electronic Kohler faucets on the Kohler sink. The heat and AC on this trailer can showcase the Kohler products in any climate or condition. A 500 gallon fresh water tank and a water heater, make the trailer completely self sufficient.

"We have already used this trailer at the walk for breast cancer and several other events. With a fresh water tank and generator we can take the trailer anywhere at a moments notice." Jon Rubino says.

Any event location is possible with the on board generator. This compact generator operates all the amenities, from the indirect fluorescent lighting with valances to the on board heating and air conditioning.

This trailer makes a bold statement and insures Kohler will always be noticed.

